

Traci Fitka - Stone Soup Group Parent Navigator

Traci Fitka, a Yupik, Eskimo was born and raised in a village along the Yukon River in Marshall, AK. She spent much of her childhood along the river; commercial and subsistence fishing, ice fishing, bird hunting, and mushing the family sled dogs. Being connected to her culture and traditions that revolve around her culture are important to her. She served a year with AmeriCorps and gave back to her community by doing what she has a passion for, working with children. Traci now lives in Anchorage, where she has lived for 16 years. Her experience as a Foster Care Provider and Therapeutic Foster Care Provider created an interest in counseling. Traci is working to become certified as a Counselor and plans to continue working with families. She volunteers her time every week with Celebrate Recovery and enjoys being a part of that Ministry. One of her favorite quotes is, "Do what you can, with what you have, where you are." Theodore Roosevelt
