Mini-Grants through the Alaska Mental Health Trust Authority

Overview:

Our Navigators assist families and individuals with Mini-Grants provided by the Alaska Mental Health Trust Authority (Trust). Trust mini-grants are awarded to beneficiaries through an agency; individuals cannot directly apply or receive grant funds.

The mini-grant provides beneficiaries up to $2,500 and covers a variety of items, services, and equipment. Only one application for the recipient may be funded each fiscal year. All financial sources must be exhausted, including Medicaid, for the Trust to consider the grant.

The funding guidelines for mini-grants are available here:

Stone Soup Group (SSG) can submit three mini-grants in each category per month. Often, we receive more than three mini-grants, and in that case, a review committee decides which mini-grants to submit. We use the Trust's funding priorities as a guideline. If you are working with another provider, care coordinator, or agency, it is helpful to ask them if they submit mini-grants as they may be able to send the grant immediately.
